E. The founding and development of #robfuocossharingnaturenonprofit #connectingkidswithnature #founding, development , and running of sharing nature. i guess the best way to tell the story of sharing nature is through the hundreds of pictures we have on line of our sharing nature projects. (xxxxx) . the sharing nature story began at the stowe center when i recognized a need for more help on the site. i mentioned this to friend janina rocheleau, and the two of us conceived a project that ended up getting stowe a codrey of #juniorachievementvolunteers and several thousand dollars of dearly needed additional historic perennials for the gardens at the site. building on this success i sought to develop more programs and contacts for help. reaching out to the local ywca, i was connected with the #ywcagirlsleadershipprogram. #hartfordconnnecticut. this blossomed into a wonderful productive relationship for #nookfarm and #thestowecenterforliteracy. , that Work, the synthesis of the ywca, stowe center resulted in the growing sharing nature programs. we next made contact with #michellemullinssimsbury'schildrensclubhouse. this resulted in many years of phenomenal programs for the kids and help for the nook farm site. the programs then started developing exponentially with many partners, educational programs , and fun for the kids. the stowe center never paid me for founding, managing, and developing, these services, but i was happy to contribute these programs for the enrichment of the site. while i was still associated with the nookfarm site (#stowecenterforliteracy) , i was invited to consult and manage on grant and the #hill-steadhistoricsite in #farmingtonconnecticut. this was a very exciting time. besides the honor and joy of working at this magical place on a hill in farmington, i continued the work at nook farm , and developed more and more sharing nature programs and partner sites. here below is the formal explanation of sharing nature from our internet site. (xxxx) the scope of this book only allows a small sampling of the pictures of our projects, i hope you'll visit our website and our you tubevideos to enjoy more of our work. all pure joy. working with orphan and other abled kids , and connecticut them with nature, has been one of the most rewarding and joyful chapters of my life
